COMPLAINT

The United States of America ("United States"), on behalf of the United States Department of Agriculture ("USDA") and for its Complaint, states and alleges as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. Congress enacted legislation establishing the multi-peril crop insurance program. The United States alleges in this action that the Defendants' actions caused ineligible persons to secure Multi-Peril Crop Insurance ("MPCI") coverage and that these ineligible persons made false claims and received indemnity payments and premium subsidy benefits to which they were not entitled.

2. The United States seeks in this action treble damages and civil penalties under the False Claims Act, 31 U.S.C. §§ 3729-3733, and in the alternative, for damages for common law fraud and payment of mistake of fact.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

3. This Court has jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 & 1345, and 31 U.S.C. § 3730.

4. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391 and 31 U.S.C. § 3732.

THE PARTIES

5. Plaintiff is the United States of America.

6. Defendant Russell T. Hawley (“Hawley”) is a resident of Iowa. Defendant Hawley was, during the relevant period, the President of Defendant Hawley Insurance, Inc. Defendant Hawley was also an insurance agent for Defendant Hawley Insurance, Inc. and sold MPCl policies that were underwritten by North Central Crop Insurance Company, now known as Farmer’s Crop Insurance Alliance.

7. Defendant Hawley Insurance, Inc. (hereinafter both defendants are collectively referred to as “Hawley”) is an Iowa Corporation with its principal place of business in Vail, Iowa, Crawford County.

SUMMARY OF USDA MULTI-PERIL CROP INSURANCE PROGRAM ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

8. Congress passed the Federal Crop Insurance Act (“FCIA”) “to promote the national welfare by improving the economic stability of agriculture through a sound system of crop insurance....” 7 U.S.C. § 1502. To carry out this purpose, Congress created the Risk Management Agency (“RMA”), which is an agency of the USDA, and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (“FCIC”), which is a wholly-owned government corporation, to administer the FCIA. See 7 U.S.C. § 1503. Congress authorized the FCIC to use private insurance companies in providing crop insurance to the nation’s farmers. See 7 U.S.C. § 1508. These private insurance companies sell and service crop insurance policies through crop insurance agents. The MPCl Program provides insurance coverage to farmers against natural crop losses.

9. The FCIC reinsures the MPCl policies sold by the insurance companies to farmers by agents acting on behalf of the insurance companies. The FCIC subsidizes the premiums and reimburses the private insurance companies for the indemnity payments made to the policyholders, assuming that the insurance company, insurance agent, and the farmer have followed all FCIC approved policies and procedures.

10. In order to obtain MPCl coverage, a farmer must sign an application for crop insurance and must submit the application through the crop insurance agent. The agent is responsible to adequately inform the farmer of the crop insurance policy provisions, including those provisions defining insurance eligibility. The farmer must certify, on the application filed with the agent, that the information in the application is true and complete. The application is an agreement between the insurance company, represented by the crop insurance agent, and the farmer.

11. As the representative agent of the insurance company, the crop insurance agent must ensure that the farmer making the application for the MPCl insurance coverage qualifies for federal crop insurance. The agent must ensure that the applicant farmer owns a share of the insured crop as a landlord, owner-operator, or tenant.

12. Based upon the representations of the farmer and the agent, the application is subject to acceptance by the insurance company. The insurance company must determine that the application:

- a. is for a person who has a bona fide interest (owner, operator, or tenant) in the crop;
- b. shows the correct person or entity (individual partnership, estate, trust, etc.);
- c. has been signed by a person having authority to enter into a binding contract; and
- d. contains all the material information required to insure the crop.

13. In return for payment of the premium and subject to all the provisions in the policy, the insurance company agrees to provide crop insurance coverage to the farmer, and the insurance company issues a MPCl policy to the insured farmer. Insurance coverage applies only to the crop share of the individual, partnership, or corporation named on the application.

14. Each year the farmer must certify on an acreage report all planted acreage of the insured crop in which that farmer has an interest or share. The crop insurance agent shall carefully review with the farmer the original acreage report before it is submitted to the insurance company to ensure that the information required to be reported on the acreage report is entirely accurate.

15. The insurance company accepts insurance coverage on the reported crop acreage and prints a Schedule of Insurance, which reflects the information certified by the farmer and reviewed by the agent. When the Schedule of Insurance is received by the farmer, it must be reviewed for accuracy by the farmer and the agent, and if an error is found when compared to the acreage report, the agent must contact the insurance company and have the error corrected.

16. The Schedule of Insurance reflects the information from the Acreage Report certified by the farmer, and reviewed by the agent. The Schedule of Insurance reflects the total premium due and payable for the insured crop. This total premium consists of the portion paid by the farmer and the premium subsidy paid by FCIC.

17. When a properly insured crop is damaged by an event covered by the policy, the farmer notifies the insurance agent about the damage and the agent in turn notifies the insurance company. Upon notice of such damages, the insurance company sends a crop adjuster to inspect the crop to determine the amount of loss. Upon making a determination of damage, the crop adjuster completes a Production Worksheet, which indicates the cause of the crop damage, the amount of damage the field has sustained, and the amount of harvested and appraised production.

18. The insured farmer and the crop adjuster certify that the information contained on the Production Worksheet is true and complete and (a) the farmer has a specific interest in the insured crop; (b) the cause of damage to the insured crop; and (c) the amount of harvested and appraised production. The insured farmer and the crop adjuster further certify that the information on the Production Worksheet will be used to determine the insured's loss, if any, for the damage to the insured's crops.

19. The insurance company pays indemnities on claims for damage to the insured farmer's crop. The FCIC then reimburses the insurance company for the indemnities it pays.

20. The insurance company shall not permit a crop adjuster to adjust a claim of a policyholder for which the policyholder's policy was sold by any member of the adjuster's family, as it would create a conflict of interest. Family includes, but is not limited to: parents, brothers, sisters, children, spouse, in-laws, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, cousins, and grandparents.

DEFENDANTS' FRAUDULENT CONDUCT

21. In 2000 and 2001, Hawley's actions caused ineligible persons to secure MPCl coverage and that these ineligible persons made false claims and received indemnity payments and premium subsidy benefits to which they were not entitled. Hawley's actions allowed Sydney and Stanley Winkvist and Edward Marshall, or others representing themselves to be those respective individuals, to misrepresent material facts on their MPCl applications, acreage reports, and claim forms in order to secure insurance coverage and to receive indemnity payments and premium subsidy benefits on behalf of Sydney and Stanley Winkvist and Edward Marshall, for other individuals. Sydney and Stanley Winkvist and Edward Marshall were not eligible for MPCl indemnity payments and premium subsidy benefits as detailed below.

Sydney and Stanley Winkvist's Crop Insurance Claims

2000 Crop Year

22. On or about February 24, 2000, two applications for crop insurance were signed for Sydney and Stanley Winkvist by Sydney Winkvist and an individual other than Stanley Winkvist. The 2000 application was for crops grown in Melette and Tripp Counties, South Dakota. Based upon the information provided by Sydney Winkvist and an individual other than Stanley Winkvist, MPCl Policies 40-799-0003221 ("3221") and 40-799-0003220 ("3220") were issued to Syd and Stan Winkvist.

23. On or about June 16, 2000, individual(s) other than Sid (sic) and Stan Winkvist signed and caused to be submitted two Acreage Reporting Forms for MPCl policies 3221 and 3220. On the Acreage Reporting Forms, the individual(s) signing for Sydney and Stanley Winkvist misrepresented that they had 100% insurable interest (50% each) in crops located in Melette and Tripp Counties, South Dakota, for crop year 2000, when in fact Sydney and Stanley Winkvist had no insurable interest in the crops insured by MPCl policies 3221 and 3220, facts known or should have been known by Hawley.

24. On or about December 20, 2000, and February 1, 2001, Sydney and an individual other than Stanley Winkvist signed and caused to be submitted four Production Worksheets which also misrepresented that the Winkvists had 100% insurable interest (50% each) in crops located in Melette and Tripp Counties, South Dakota. Sydney and Stanley Winkvist did not have any insurable interest in those crops, facts Hawley knew or should have known. Individual(s) other than Sydney and Stanley Winquist certified that they knew the information provided on the Production Worksheets would be used to determine the amount of loss and whether indemnities should be paid under the two MPCl policies issued on behalf of Sydney and Stanley Winquist.

25. Mark Hinz, Hawley's cousin, performed the required quality assurance review of the claims for MPCl policies 3220 and 3221.

26. Based on the Production Worksheets signed and caused to be submitted by Sydney Winquist and an individual other than Stanley Winquist, the Winquists received indemnities, and these indemnities were further assigned to Ag Services of America, Inc. and were used to pay toward Donald Kluver's farm operating loan, from the crop insurance company in the amount of $62,369.00 for MPCl policy 3221 and $62,369.00 for MPCl policy 3220. FCIC reimbursed the crop insurance company for the indemnities it paid to the Winquists. FCIC also made premium subsidies for crop year 2000, on behalf of the Winquists totaling $10,401.00 for MPCl policy 3221 and $10,401.00 for MPCl policy 3220.

Edward Marshall's Crop Insurance Claims

2001 Crop Year

27. On or about March 14, 2001, an application for crop insurance for Ed Marshall was signed by an individual other than Edward Marshall. The 2001 application was for crops grown in Melette and Tripp Counties, South Dakota. Based upon the information provided by an individual other than Edward Marshall, MPCl policy 40-799-0004148 ("4148") was issued to Ed Marshall, a fact unbeknownst to Edward Marshall, at that time.

28. On or about April 26, 2001, Hawley faxed to Mark and Sue Hoffman Assignments of Indemnity forms assigning Mark and Sue Hoffman's right to receive future indemnity payments on MPCl policies 40-799-0002632 and 40-799-0002631 to Ed Marshall.

29. On or about June 30, 2001, Edward Marshall signed and caused to be submitted an Acreage Reporting Form for MPCl Policy 4148. On the Acreage Reporting Form, Edward Marshall represented that Edward Marshall had a 100 percent interest in the insured crops in Melette and Tripp Counties, South Dakota. In fact, Edward Marshall had no insurance on those crops because his name had been forged on the application; therefore, no insurance policy and coverage should have been issued to Ed Marshall, facts known or should have been known by Hawley.

30. On or about December 5, 2001, Edward Marshall signed and caused to be submitted four Production Worksheets in order to secure an indemnity under MPCl policy 4148. Edward Marshall certified that he knew that the information he provided on the Production Worksheets would be used to determine the amount of loss and whether an indemnity should be paid under the MPCl policy that had been wrongly issued to Ed Marshall. On the Production Worksheets, Edward Marshall certified that he had a 100 percent interest in the acreage and the harvested production in the insured crop. In fact, Edward Marshall had no insurance on those crops because his name had been forged on the application; therefore, no insurance policy and coverage should have been issued to Ed Marshall, facts known or should have been known by Hawley.

31. Based on the Production Worksheets signed and caused to be submitted by Edward Marshall, Edward Marshall received an indemnity from the crop insurance company in the amount of $132,836.00 for MPCl policy 4148. On January 12, 2002, FCIC reimbursed the crop insurance company for the amount of the indemnity paid to Ed Marshall on MPCl policy 4148. FCIC also paid premium subsidies for crop year 2001, on behalf of Ed Marshall totaling $27,124.00 for MPCl policy 4148.
